

A collection of words

June 2009

Pictures and memories of Happy days and holidays
Old and new, families
Together and apart
Ordinary and special
Giddy days
Reality and realism
Appreciating
Pastimes and pleasures
Holographic
Souvenirs

Wise, witty and Often tired, we Multitask with ease, though
Anxious and
Never done

Fabulous

Edible delights which are

Appetising and tempting

Satisfying and pleasing to the eye

Tasty above all

Part of
London, not the pretty bit.
Authentic, in it's place,
It's residents
Support and care,
Thoughtful
Of each other and a
Wider world

Forget that old boss
Rise and shine and put yourself first
Ice cold, she is the boss
Eat and drink, the money ends there
N'
Don't talk, you forget I am the boss

Victimless crime
Individual sorrow
Open door
Lookers on End of privacy
No tomorrow
Conscienceless bastards
Evil groups

Mornings
Aimless minds
Depressing circles
Never endings
Eternal beginnings
Sexual injuries
Sanity removed

Waiting for Friday, half way through the week, it's the Evening of enjoyable TV,
Desperately I phone a friend.
Nothing special happens today, but Every week it's my Sainsbury's
Day.
And day by day, and
Year by year the Wednesdays come around

Kiss me now

I want you to be mine

Scrabble, scrabble he is married

Sun and moon cannot be like him, he is a joke

Recoil
Arrows in the mind
Pulsating emotions
Emotional death

Vocal
Overt
Indulgent
Creative
Egocentric
Songs

Crimson
And rightly
Ruffled
Nectarless alas
Although Tinted
Impressively like
Oil painted master
Nasturtiums do envy

Cook just one boiled egg

Original or free range

Off the train John

Kiss your lady good night, don't be shy

Beach living
And stubborn
Resisting the pull
Nobody really
Accepts
Clinging things
Live
Emotionally at peace

Survivors Together

Survivors Together is for people who have experienced sexual abuse. A women's group meets regularly.

For more information please contact

Yvonne 07961 351361,

yvonne@survivorstogether.co.uk

or write to:

Survivors Together, PO Box 62526

www.survivorstogether.co.uk